It was in the 12th century that the cultivation of the citrus tree was first introduced to Naxos. In 1896 Mackos G.Vallindras founded the first distillery producing a liqueur made from the citron tree leaves. This unique family recipe used in the making of this fine liqueur has been a well kept secret handed down from one generation to the other. Vallindras Naxos Citron has been granted prestigious distinctions from international food and beverage exhibitions since it first appeared on the market. With the passing of time the management of the enterprise has been renewing and upgrading the products image on the market while keeping it's traditional composure. The natural ingredients remain the same, thus preserving the unique wholesome natural taste of this digestive liqueur, synonym to the island of Naxos. On the premises of this neoclassical family establishment situated in Chalki the distillation process remains unhindered which is why has become an ever so popular tourist attraction. The distillation and bottleing process are definitely worth seeing. It is a must to pay a visit to the "House of Citron" and grab the opportunity to savor the "Vallindras Naxos Citron"
